

artificial son - 3/10/2003 - michael pellegrino three am and the body's gone there's no where else to run it's time for me to replace my face with the artificial son i can't believe these times are gone i've no need for myself i think that i've said enough this time i have the one artificial sun won't shine in the mountains or in the seas the horizon's there, there's no more time for the artificial -- the artificial me
